

GENRE & WRITING CRAFT

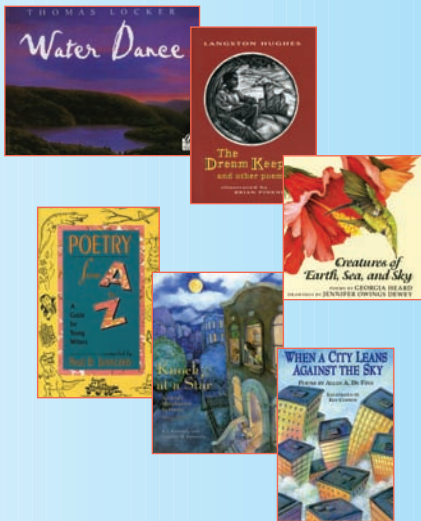

Many teachers create their year-long writing curriculum around genre and craft studies. Much of the success of these studies is determined by the quality of books used. When selecting books for the Schoolwide Genre and Writing Craft Studies sets, we ask the following questions; "Is this among the best of the genre?"; "Can it be used to teach a variety of writing skills and techniques?"; "Does it match the kinds of writing we can imagine students in the grade doing"; and finally, "Along with the other books in the set, does it give students a full picture of all the possibilities within the genre?" Only when the answer to all these questions is yes, does a book make the cut.

Books may be purchased individually as well as in sets.
